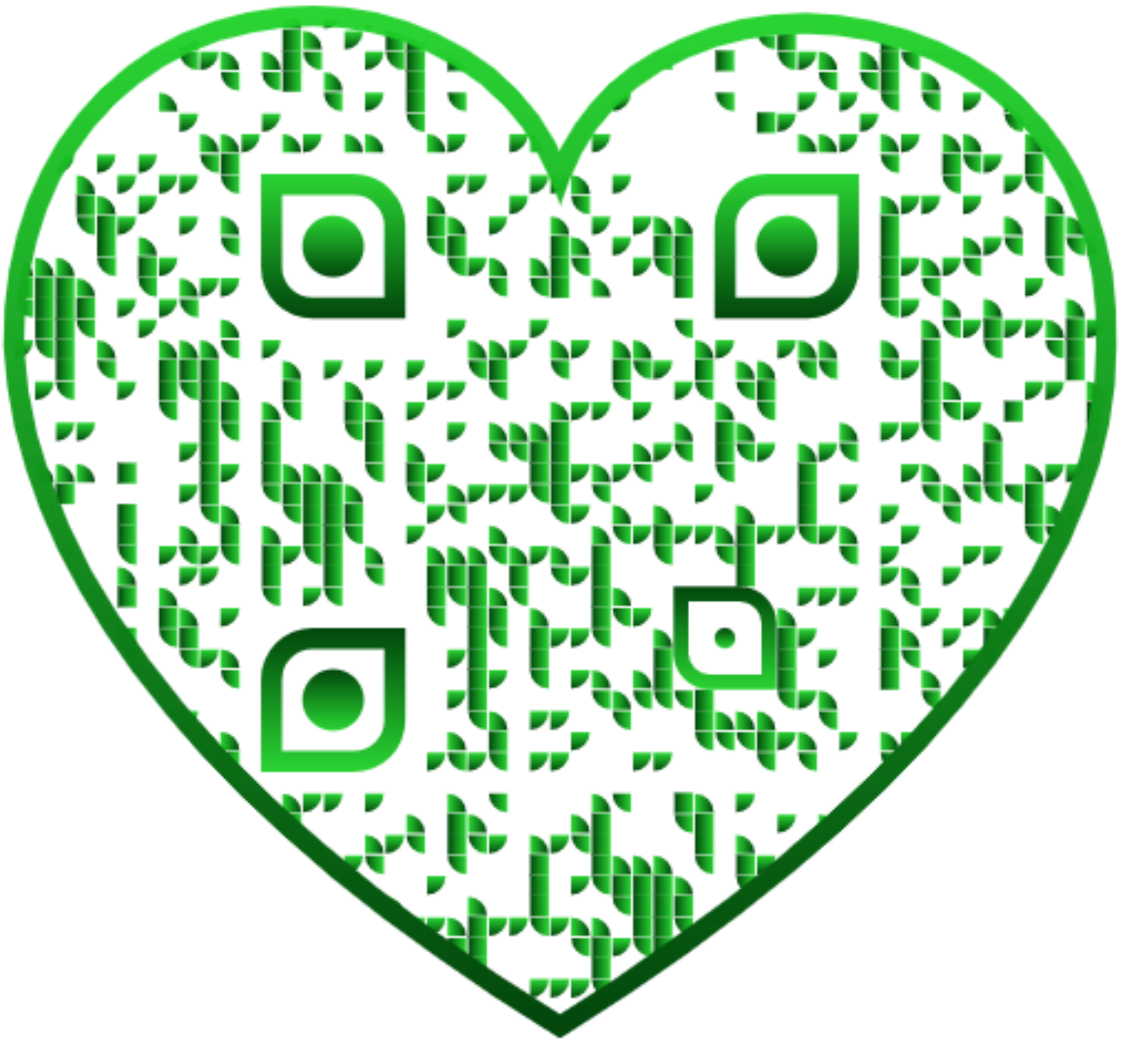
Guide to Surgical OSCE 2020

Part 1

By: Khaled MUGHAZY



Breast

Acute lactational mastitis

Breast Cancer

Thyroid

DIFFUSED GOITRE

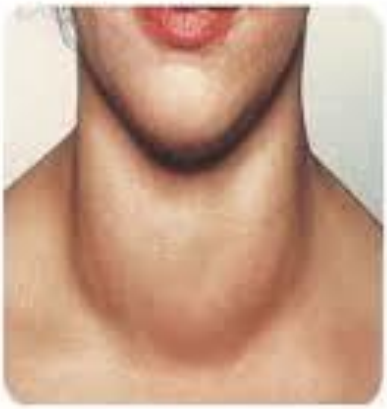


Fig 2 : Kocher's sign - Staring look

THYROID EYE DISEASE

Dalrymple sign – Lid retraction

Images Copyrights of JAPI.org

Fig. 3 : Puffiness of eyes

: Moebius' sign- weakness of convergence

Cystic papillary Thyroid tumour

Thvroid cvst

Thyroglossal cyst &fistula

Salivary gland

Salivary tumors

Parotid fistula

Salivary Stones

Boil

Courtesy of AOCD
Boils (also known as furuncles or carbuncles) are tender, red lumps that may ooze pus.
A single boil may be due to a ruptured cyst or a small abscess.

Carbuncle

Surgical site infection

Hydradenitis Suppurativa

Ludwig's angina

Acute Lymphadenitis

Tetanus

Gas gangrene

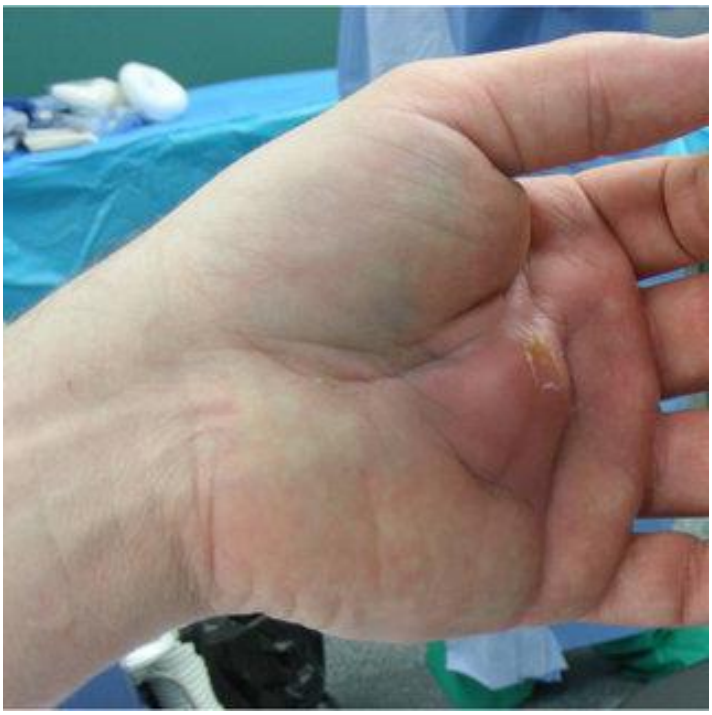
Acute paronychia

Chronic paronychia

Felon

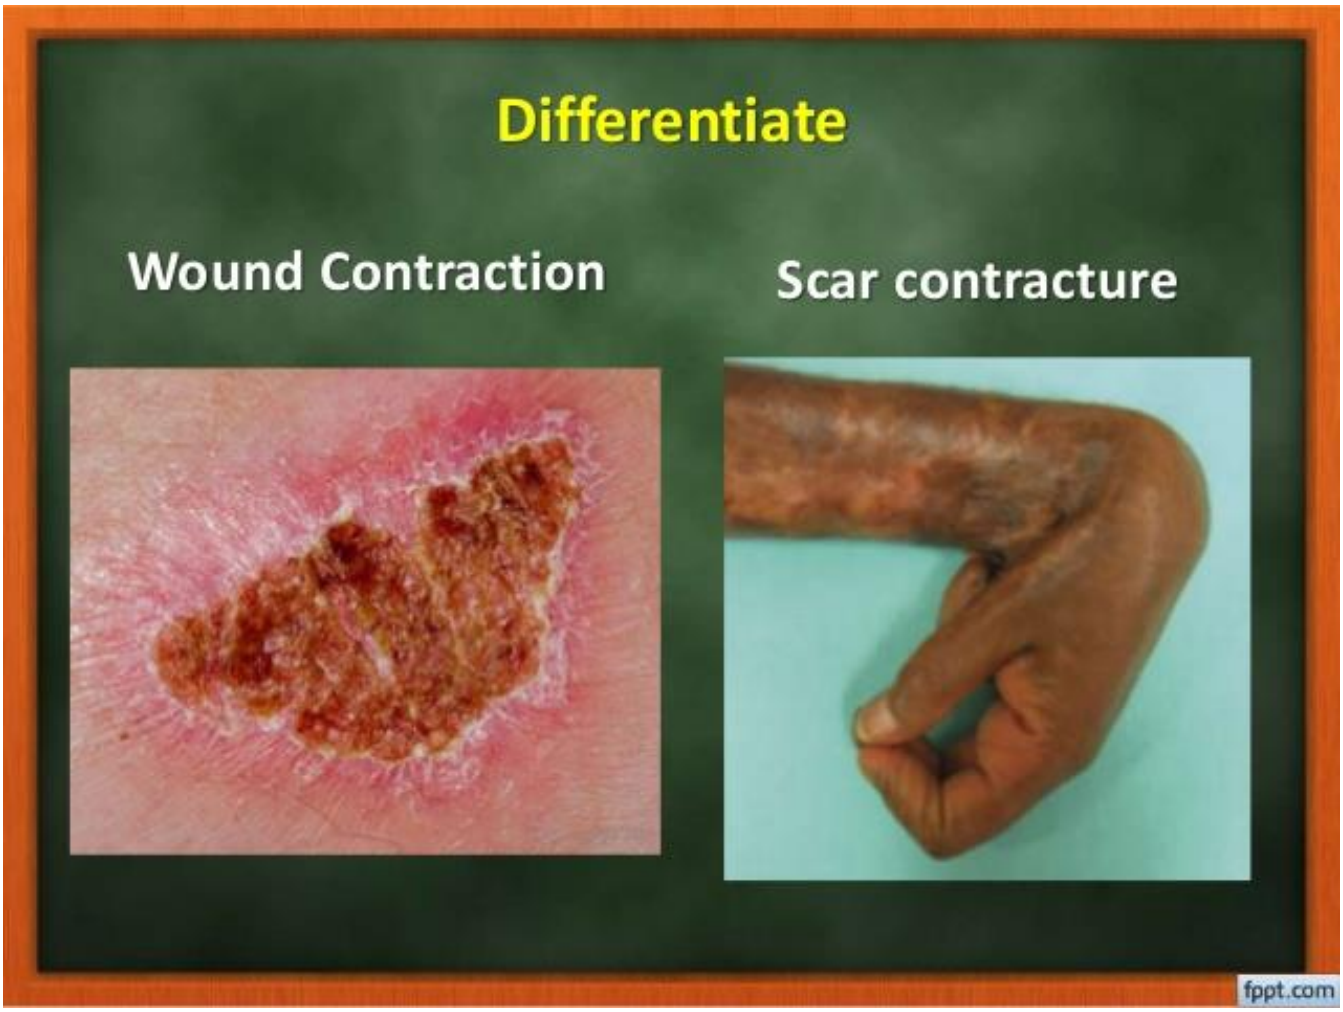
Tenosynovitis

Web space infection



Palmar Space infection

Acute wounds



Differentiate
Wound Contraction
Scar contracture
fppt.com

Keloid

VASCULAR

Acute ischemia

Chronic threatened limb ischemia

Critical limb with perfusion syndrome

Diabetic food

Raynaud's disease

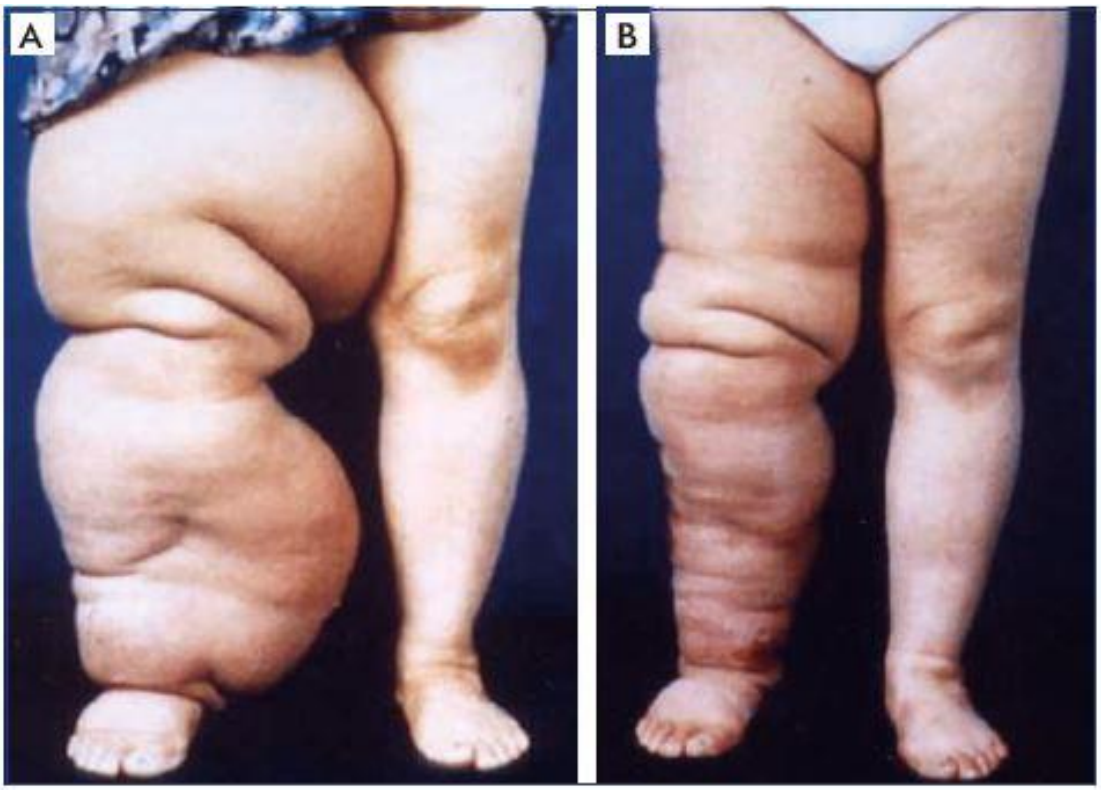
AV fistula

DVT

Varicose Veins

Venous Ulcer

TB lymphadenitis



Lymphedema

Lymphomas